EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

"PERFECTION IS SOMETHING THAT YOU CAN TASTE."

Machiatto is the first physical narrative card game that integrates artificial intelligence to generate unique stories at the end of each match.

It is also a creative platform a universe of thematic collections, and a closed social network where players don't just compete: they tell stories, unlock memories, and become the authors of their own digital legacy.

Inspired by the emotional experience of savoring a perfect coffee,

Machiatto is a modern gaming ritual, designed for a generation that loves movies, anime, physical TCGs, and technology... but has lost faith in speculative, empty, or repetitive models.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Machiatto rejects the culture of cheap tokens and pump & dump schemes. Instead, it offers a clear, ethical, and memorable economy. Every card has a soul.

Every match is remembered. Every victory generates a cinematic trailer powered by AI.

It's time to play, to create, to remember. It's time for Machiatto.

"PLAY TO REMEMBER. REMEMBER TO FEEL."

VISION – THE GAME THAT CONNECTS WORLDS

"PERFECTION IS SOMETHING THAT YOU CAN TASTE."

Machiatto is born from the deep pleasure provoked by a well-crafted piece of work. Like that first sip of coffee that changes everything. Like when a story pierces through you and leaves something behind.

Behind this project is Álvaro López, filmmaker, creator, and dreamer, founder of Punky Tiger, a production company that has already released a film and is working on post-apocalyptic IPs like Holomorph. But now, Machiatto is the focus.

The vision: to create an independent entertainment company that merges physical games, interactive storytelling, and narrative licenses that can compete—or coexist—with the best in the world.

Machiatto is not just a game. It's a narrative playground. A sandbox for creators, designers, influencers, otaku girls, narrative geeks, and film fans. A living system where each card can be a scene, each collection a story, and each player, an author.

VISION – THE GAME THAT CONNECTS WORLDS

We want to see romance matches. Sci-fi battles. Themed tournaments about anime, biblical stories, or Lovecraftian creatures.

We want collections inspired by books, series, films, and dreams. We want to invite artists like Paul Jenkins to bring their worlds here.

We want Machiatto to be the next great creative ritual of pop culture. No tokens needed, no empty promises. Just stories, strategy, and beauty.

THE PROBLEM – SOULLESS GAMES, LIFELESS SCREENS

We're surrounded by games, but how many really leave a mark?

Modern gaming is divided:

- Physical is stagnant. Card games that have repeated the same format for decades. No real evolution. No deep narrative.
- Digital is tainted by greed. Useless tokens, endless grinding, crypto speculation, and toxic communities.
- Hybrids try everything but deliver nothing worth remembering.

Card players don't have a living platform to share their epic matches, their decks, their style, their story.

Creators don't have a game that lets them embed their stories, worlds, and characters without relying on a million-dollar IP.

And fans… are tired of experiences that promise excitement but deliver stress.

THE SOLUTION – MACHIATTO

Machiatto is the first physical narrative card game that creates a personalized AI-generated trailer at the end of each match.

Not to boast about your power.
But to remember your story.

Each card played is a scene. Each match, a miniature movie.

The goal: to close the story with a Finisher, the card that puts the final point and triggers the automatic trailer creation.

That moment is a ritual.

A consecration. An unforgettable instant.

THE SOLUTION – MACHIATTO

This game:

- Is played with physical cards (50-card decks) that can be scanned with a phone.
- Each card has a short animated clip that integrates into the final trailer.
- There's no energy or mana: the game system is based on narrative Climax.
- You win by strategy, rhythm, and aesthetic composition.
- Each deck can tell a romantic, epic, absurd, or violent story.

MACHIATTO IS NOT JUST ANOTHER TCG. IT'S A NEW MEDIUM.
A FORMAT TO NARRATE, COMPETE, AND REMEMBER.

GAME MECHANICS – THE CLIMAX DECIDES THE STORY

- Each player has a 50-card deck. Start with 5 cards in hand.
- Draw 2 per turn.
- The game starts at Climax 0.
- Some cards generate Climax. Others require Climax to be activated. No energy or mana. Just rising narrative.
- Each successful card play forces the opponent to discard 2 cards.
- If the opponent loses their protagonists, runs out of cards, or receives a Finisher, you win.

Card types:

Protagonists	Finishers (Final Cinematic)
Events	Bonds / Romance / Duality
Objects	Secret / Encoded Cards
Terrains	Mythic Cards (NFTs with exclusive functions)

The core mechanic is to create a compatible story.
You can't just drop a spaceship into a classic love story…
or maybe you can, but you'll have to justify it narratively.

The game rewards coherence, emotion, and cleverness.

AI, THE TRAILER, AND THE SOCIAL NETWORK

When a match ends and the Finisher is played, a cinematic trailer under 2 minutes is generated.

This trailer:

- Is generated from the animations of each card played.
- Has an automatic narrative based on order and effects.
- You can add titles, emojis, and voice.
- It's saved to your timeline within the app.

What is the Timeline?

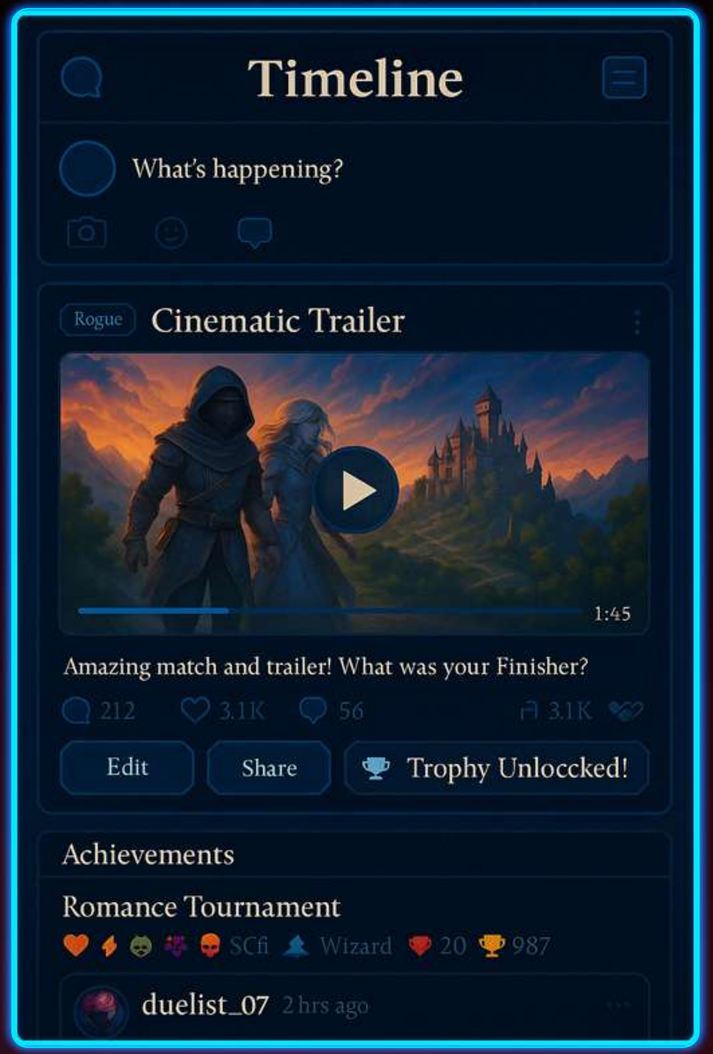
A closed, safe, creative social network integrated into the game.

There, you can:

- Showcase your matches and trailers.
- Comment and react to other players.
- Unlock narrative achievements and trophies.
- Receive donations or rewards for your style.
- Enter themed story tournaments (romance, horror, sci-fi, etc.).
- Interact with developers, judges, and designers without Discord.

It's a mix of Twitter, Letterboxd, and Pokémon Stadium, where each player has an archive of their most epic memories.

And NFTs, in this system, won't make you rich. But they can give you a rare skin, an exclusive avatar, or access to a legendary secret card that unlocks a forbidden room.



EXPANDABLE UNIVERSE – COLLECTIONS WITH SOUL

Machiatto doesn't depend on external licenses to be powerful.
Its strength comes from its ability to absorb any narrative universe and make it playable, connecting emotions, styles, and cultures.

Each Machiatto expansion can be based on:

- Mythical concepts (Annunakis, Illuminati, Fallen Angels).
- Psychological horror and post-apocalyptic sci-fi (like Holomorph).
- Cyberpunk or retro-tech universes.
- Period romances, gothic novels, teen drama, or space opera.

But the most disruptive element is this:
Any creator can launch their own official card collection.

Influencers, writers, fashion designers, comic or anime creators can collaborate with Punky Tiger to create special editions—just like Adidas does "feats" with artists. This turns Machiatto into an open narrative platform, able to integrate into pop culture like no other TCG.

We want to see themed romance tournaments. Decks inspired by novels. Stories told by gamer girls from an intimate, poetic perspective. We want a game where there's room for tears, passion,

ETHICAL BLOCKCHAIN – MEMORY, NOT SPECULATION

Machiatto has no token. No mining. No free coins. No empty promises.

Instead, it uses blockchain technology as a memory archive, not a casino.

How do NFTs work in Machiatto?

- Only Mythic cards can be NFTs.
- These cards are ultra-limited: 1 Mythic card for every 1,000 physical cards.
- Scanning a Mythic card activates exclusive narrative powers like hidden scenes, secret areas, or special effects in your trailer.
- You can stake your NFTs to receive rewards.

What rewards?

- Monthly distribution of 5% of all NFT sales and secondary resales, shared among active holders.
- Rewards are in real USD, not volatile tokens, and accumulate for quarterly withdrawal.
- No premine. No team gifts. Everything is clean.

Additionally:

- You can only purchase NFTs with a verified account in the Machiatto network.
- Curated whitelists for creators, players, designers, and committed influencers. Not for speculators or flippers.

Machiatto uses blockchain as it was meant to be: an emotional, eternal, fair, and beautiful archive.

BUSINESS MODEL – REAL, SUSTAINABLE, COLLECTIBLE

Machiatto doesn't seek to inflate its value with magic tokens or false profitability. Its economic model is simple, clear, and scalable:

Revenue sources:

1. Physical sales (Kickstarter and stores):
Base games: $60 to $120 USD
Deluxe or collector editions: up to $300 USD
Founder Pack: $1,000 USD with exclusive benefits

2. Limited Mythic NFTs (phase 2):
Launch on Solana
Max 1 Mythic card per 1,000 physical cards
Resales with 5% commission for the reward pool

3. Thematic licenses and creative feats:
Collaborations with artists, influencers, studios, or publishers
Shared revenue from co-created collections

4. Closed marketplace (phase 3):
Controlled exchange of Mythic cards and special items
Narrative skins, emotes, unique visual effects

Revenue projection (estimated model)

Based on sales data from TCGs and hybrid games:

Year 1: 2,000 units on Kickstarter = $180,000 USD boutique store launch (1,000 units) + NFTs = $300,000 to $500,000 USD

Year 2: USA market + narrative feats = $3M+

year 3: europe market multiple launch 10M+

(These figures are moderate. Pokémon alone sold $11.5B in physical cards in 2022. There's a market for new experiences.)
